KIER

Welcome to Open Cambridge 2017

Cambridge opens its doors for a special weekend

This year is a very special one for Open Cambridge. We have the usual mix of rich and diverse events celebrating the heritage of our City, but this year's programme also features Open Eddington which will celebrate the opening of the new part of the City by showcasing the North West Cambridge development and its buildings in this new neighbourhood. And the third strand of this amazing weekend, India Unboxed, marks the 70th anniversary of Indian independence and the close relationship between Cambridge and India.

We hope that you enjoy exploring this wonderful city.

Open Eddington

Welcome to Open Eddington. The University of Cambridge is undertaking the largest single capital project in its 800-year history. Construction work began in 2013 and today we are celebrating the opening of this new part of the City. The first phase of the development is focused on creating the foundations for a long-lasting and sustainable community, with some 700 homes and community facilities to support new residents, neighbours and residents of Cambridge. We look forward to showcasing the development and its buildings for you in the variety of talks and tours by those who have helped to design, build and create this new neighbourhood, Eddington.

SELF GUIDED TOUR OF EDDINGTON

Explore Eddington with this free self-guided tour and information sheet. This introduction includes descriptions of the architectural and design features which showcase the quality of the development and the sustainability principles behind it. Included is a family treasure hunt around the site.

At the time of going to press, parts of the development are still under construction so some of our locations will be confirmed by email nearer the time. We look forward to welcoming you as one of the first to enjoy this new part of the City as part of Open Cambridge.

Eddington is the centre of the newly opened North West Cambridge Development and is located two miles from central Cambridge. The development is between Madingley Road, Huntingdon Road and the M11.

We hope that you will take time to discover us via sustainable modes of transport.

We are a ten minute cycle ride from the City Centre. Extensive cycle parking is available around the development site.

Cyclists and pedestrians can access Eddington Avenue via the Ridgeway, a cycle and pedestrian route only from Storey's Way and Horsechestnut Avenue, and Huntingdon Road and Madingley Road.

Eddington is also on the Universal Bus route and for Open Eddington, Whippet will be offering the service for free to all passengers. For more information about the service and its stops visit go-whippet.co.uk.

No parking is available on site. If you do need to drive, parking is conveniently located at the Madingley Road Park & Ride with the Eddington local centre a short walk away. Use the footpath on the north east side of the car park for a shorter route.

A downloadable map will be available to help journey planning from nwcambridge.co.uk.

India and Cambridge

Cambridge and India have had a very close relationship for over 150 years. From stories of some of the earliest Indian students in Cambridge colleges and of local revolutionaries, through to stories from the extensive South Asian archives and museum collections in Cambridge, join us as we mark the seventieth anniversary of Indian independence, here in Cambridge.

India Unboxed is a programme of exhibitions, events, digital encounters, discussions, installations and more within the museums and the city of Cambridge. Rooted in the University of Cambridge Museums collections, the programme explores themes of identity and connectivity for audiences in both the UK and India.
